Sisters, Brothers,

Your bargaining committee pursued negotiations with the employer this week in order to renew your bargaining agreement. Following three days of negotiations devoted to monetary issues, we agreed that we would not have enough time and that we would have to plan at least one more meeting date in order to complete the negotiation process.

In accordance with everyone's agendas, the parties have agreed to resume discussions on February 20th 2023.

Rest assured that your bargaining committee will continue to work hard to improve your working conditions and defend the issues you have put forward.

We will keep you informed as discussions unfolds.
